Britain & Ireland 2017 Party –

Trossach's Tryst

Callander, Perthshire, Scotland, UK

Please read this document in full. There is a considerable amount of information here that you will need for reference regarding the party.

Introduction

Britain & Ireland's Party is taking place in Callander, a beautiful village in Perthshire, Scotland. This part of Scotland is rich in history and covered in various sites for tourism and the stunning scenery for which Scotland is famous. If you have the time you should most definitely visit nearby Stirling, or enjoy the rugged beauty of the Trossachs. Our site for the weekend is at Trossach's Tryst, set on the edge of the National Park, a site of unsurpassed natural beauty.

The team has worked hard to pull together an amazing weekend. We hope that everyone, first timers or old hats, will have a great time this weekend and at this site.

For those joining us for the first time, and those veterans of Tower events, we hope you have a great time! This pack does include further information on what to expect and a reminder that there will be frictions and/or unthought-of situations, but we will always get through it together.

Location Information & DIRECTIONS

Trossach's Tryst

Invertrossachs Rd, Callander FK17 8HW, UK

By Car

TRAVELLING FROM EDINBURGH

Take the M9 through to the A84 in Stirling. Take Exit 10 from the M9 to reach the A84 towards Stirling/Callander/Crianlarich. Continue on the A84. Slight left to A873. Turn right onto B822. Continue onto A81. At the roundabout, before you come into Callander, take the first exit (left). Continue along this road until you reach the signpost for Trossachs Tryst on the left. Detailed instructions available via Google Maps.

TRAVELLING FROM GLASGOW

Take the M8 north to the A84 in Stirling. Take Exit 10 from the M9 to reach the A84 towards Stirling/Callander/Crianlarich. Continue on the A84. Slight left to A873. Turn right onto B822. Continue onto A81. At the roundabout, before you come into Callander, take the first exit (left). Continue along this road until you reach the signpost for Trossachs Tryst on the left. By Transit

If travelling by public transport, the closest railway stop is Stirling. From Stirling transit with other Tower members can be arranged to get to the party location in Callander.

Airport and Station Pick-Up and Drop-Off

You are responsible for your transportation to and from the site. Please ensure you have planned your pick up and drop offs before you arrive at the event. Be sure to exchange phone numbers with your travel partners in advance and remember that probably most of the attendees have mobile numbers from different countries.

Taxi Help

Here are a few suggestions for taxi companies operating in the Callander area; though we do not have any indication of costs.

J McPhail Taxis 01877 331240

Arrival and Departure

Arrival and Check-In

The check-in for the event is on Friday. As there is a lot to go through please aim to arrive at the appointed time. Be prepared to follow the outlined procedure and have any materials you may need to assist in your check in (eg. ID).

Check-in time is between 4pm and 6pm.

Please do not arrive before 4pm as we will not be available to check you in earlier than 4pm.

If you are going to arrive after 6pm on Friday you must contact Reniel Killan to let her know what your estimate time of arrival will be. If circumstances arise that unexpectedly prevent you from arriving before 6pm please contact Reniel Killan.

Check-in will include:

- Confirming your arrival at the site
- Obtaining your name badge for the event
- Signing liability and photo release forms
- Receive welcome package
- Checking your name, address and additional confirmation information for emergency purposes

Departure and Check out

We must be completely checked out of the site at 11am on Sunday; however, we are aiming to be clear by 10:30am. This includes cleaning the space and returning everything to how we found it. You must check out with Reniel Killan or Ealandrelle Melyma.

Please note: Leaving before the site is deemed clean by the owners is not acceptable unless we have prior notice. There will be no getting out of the clean-up work. If for any reason you do need to leave early we will task you separately. The event management team will not stay late to clean up after you as we have long drives home too, and clean-up is ultimately everyone's responsibility.

Schedule of Events

Please be aware that there is the need for the events team to be on-site before you arrive, as there will be preparation tasks required. If you do arrive early please consider spending time in town or, if you have come directly to the venue, we will request that you stay in a specific area until we are ready to welcome you properly. Do not aim to be early!

All timings are approximate but if we want to fit everything in please make sure you are where you need to be if you are tasked with cooking, cleaning, etc.

Menu Information

Dining & Allergies

We have tried to accommodate all the food allergies that we have been made aware of, but we cannot please everyone all the time. If you feel you need to bring any personal or specific perishable food to supplement the meals provided, please bring it in a bag that you can clearly mark with your name.

Please be sure to let everyone eat before getting seconds – there will be plenty!

Menu Summary

It's always a challenge to provide enough food for a large group and we've worked hard to ensure that there is plenty of good food and drinks to go around. We have pulled together a menu that suits a variety of tastes and should meet the specific needs you mentioned in your registration.

Friday Dinner – Bangers 'n' Mash

Sausages, mashed potatoes, baked beans, salad.

Saturday Breakfast – Continental Style

Cereal, yoghurts, fruits, bread/toast, croissants, brioche, porridge.

Saturday Lunch – Buffet Style Lunch

Bread, oatcakes, bagels, cheeses, salmon, bacon, cold meats, coleslaw, salad, vegetable soup

Saturday Dinner – Traditional Roast Dinner

Roast chicken, stuffing, yorkshire puddings, roast veg, mashed potatoes, gravy.

Sunday Breakfast – Continental Style

Cereal, yoghurts, fruits, bread/toast, croissants, brioche, porridge.

Alcohol

Alcohol is not provided, except for the Goldschlager for the official toast and ceremony purposes. Also, only those of legal age to drink in the United Kingdom (18+ years) will be allowed to consume alcohol at the party. If you wish to drink – bring your own!

We have had issues in previous years where members have assumed that everything is fair game, and alcohol belonging to others was consumed. Make sure that you mark your belongings if necessary. We will bring tags so you can mark them if you want to.

There will be a limited supply of soft drinks for the whole group so if you are a fan please bring extra for your own use; the same for morning juices and other drinks provided.

Delegation of Roles

There will be a pre-planned schedule for who has been delegated to which roles in terms of catering and cleanup for each meal. Everyone will be participating in either or both areas throughout the weekend, with a fair rotation of duties. What you will find is that even the event management team will be doing just as much as everyone else, including their roles throughout the weekend. Please keep that in mind when we ask you to do something at a specific time – and we will chase you if you're not there!

The list of tasks will be available on the day of arrival.

Health and Safety

While every member and guest is expected to be responsible for themselves and their own well-being we do have members in place to help in this regard. Some of them include:

Reniel Killan (Mistress of Revels) – The main event coordinator. She can be contacted for information regarding schedule, activities, general questions, and can be sought out in case of emergency.

Ealandrelle Melmya (Local Liaison) - The local event coordinator. She can be contacted for information regarding schedule, activities, general questions, and can be sought out in case of emergency.

In addition to Reniel you can reach out to: Cassandra Dainar (Shatayan) or Vivianna L'antreau (Mistress of Revels – North America)

Please be aware of the following safety concerns:

Be careful when handling recreation equipment. Please read the rules for each game prior to participating. You are responsible for your own safety, although all events will have allocated safety staff.

If at any point you damage or find any damaged items on site then please inform Reniel so she can report it back to the venue manager. Damages will be charged to the individual if they are not accidental.

In case of bad weather there is a foul weather plan.

Security

As much as we would like to believe that everyone is honest and trustworthy, unfortunately that is not always the case. All items are brought at your own risk. Please try to avoid bringing valuables – drunken accidents happen all too easily.

Restrictions

Noise Levels

As mentioned before we will unlikely be the only guests at Trossach's Tryst when we are visiting. We ask that all members be courteous of fellow members who may be sleeping. Especially between the hours of midnight and 9am. The Administration reserves the right to ask members to quiet things down if it is getting unreasonably disruptive. Reniel Killan will be serving as the Event Leader and as such she is there to help you with any minor issues that come from co-habitation, and we ask that you listen to her if she ask for activities to be moved elsewhere, or try to quiet down. We have separated both people and activities so that the noisy activities are outside and the quiet room is the most remote from the living room. However, the way that the bunk house is situated the bedrooms are all next to the living room.

Close Quarters Living

Living in close quarters with a lot of people can be challenging. There are several things you can do that will help keep things running smoothly.

- Keep your items tidy, don't throw things on the floor or allow it to accumulate in piles; remember you are sharing with others. This makes packing and clean up much easier, plus it drastically cuts down on the amount of lost items.
- Respect other's sleeping spaces. Don't sit on their beds without asking (or put your feet up on them). Avoid using your room as a place to socialize where possible. If any of your roommates are sleepy then please respectfully continue your conversation elsewhere.
- Please be aware of your behavior. Make sure you aren't engaging in any behavior which you or others might be uncomfortable to walk in on, etc.
- Room rubbish bins will be emptied by the room occupants. If you have any particular gross (or personal) rubbish, please be polite and remove it yourself.

What should I Expect

TarValon.Net events can be daunting when attended for the first time. It can be especially challenging for people who have never met friends off of the Internet before, or for people who are generally not accustomed to being around a lot of people for a few very intensely social days! Our events usually last for an extended weekend, which is a lot of time to spend around people you may or may not have met before.

Our members are usually a very friendly group. Many people are initially surprised by how many people recognize them on sight and how warmly they are greeted. Many of us view our friendships here as being just as valuable as our friendships elsewhere. We do a lot of hugging and snuggling, particularly on the first day when we are just seeing a lot of our friends for the first time in weeks or months. However, please keep in mind that everyone has their limits, and some of us are more physically affectionate than others.

Because we have been a community with real life gatherings for so long, many of us have met in person several times. As such, we are comfortable around each other. We have each other in our homes, our family members have met community members, we talk on the phone with each other—we are involved with each other both online and off. At events, we spend a lot of time snuggling, laughing, telling stories, and hanging out in groups.

If this is your first event, you may feel a little uncomfortable jumping into what appears to be a close-knit group. Be assured, we welcome seeing new faces! We have an incredibly diverse membership, and one of the great things about our events is getting to know all the different people. If you're a first-timer, jump right in! If this is your tenth event, reach out to someone you don't see much or have just met. We're a stronger community because of our real life interactions, and that includes meeting new people.

Members attending an official function are expected to behave in full accordance with the Code of Conduct. Members who fail to comply may be asked to leave the event and will not be granted a refund. If disciplinary action is needed at a real life event, it may result in suspension or termination of membership. Everyone should be a responsible guest, which means respecting personal property and space, as well as helping with set-up, clean-up, and costs. Underage drinking is not allowed, and illegal drugs will not be tolerated. Either will result in disciplinary action, up to and including your dismissal from the community.

Liability

TarValon.Net does not take responsibility for anyone; including his/her actions, safety, and possessions, when attending a function. All who attend take full responsibility for themselves and agree to hold TarValon.Net Inc and its Administration, Officers, and Board of Directors harmless in the event of unforeseen occurrence.

How to survive Tower Functions

Our Official Events and Conferences usually involve large crowds and lots of people, new experiences, and stressful situations. This is a guide to surviving those times.

1. People at events tend to hang out in groups. With the number of people we have attending events now, sometimes those groups are larger, particularly during opening ceremonies and such, and sometimes those groups are smaller, particularly during the day when people drift off to play games, chat, be crafty, or other things. Please realize that you will not be able to talk to everyone or get to know everyone personally. It's very easy to become overwhelmed by everything and feel very alone, even when surrounded by friends. If this occurs, find a quiet spot to rest for a little while, or grab one person for some one-on-one time. After a bit, you'll find that you're ready to jump back into the social fray. A lot of us are computer geeks and, as such, are used to more private time. Expect that you might feel this way, and don't worry if it happens.
2. To go along with the above point, living in close proximity with close to 100 people for several days can cause tension. Someone will invariably annoy or piss off someone else. We have a lot of different personalities (many of them quite strong) and not all of them are going to click. Do your best to remember what you like about that person, give yourself some distance, and be generous with your forgiveness.
3. Living in close proximity with close to 100 people for several can also cause other issues. Please remember to take care of personal hygiene. Your roommates, and everyone else, will thank you for it!
4. Our events are, for the most part, adult parties. We are doing our best to make it slightly more family friendly, but it is at its heart a bunch of adults staying together. People will undoubtedly drink too much, people will hook up, and people will do or say stupid things. What happens at an event stays at the event. We don't gossip about who slept in whose room, or who had a hangover in the morning.
5. Many of the members at this site tend to joke a lot and enjoy making fun of ourselves (which may include self-deprecating comments about us being a cult, or desires to take over the world). It is vitally important to understand that this is all said in jest. We are not a religion. We are not trying to take over the government. We are not going to all go live in a commune. It is quite safe to drink the Goldschlager (if you are of age and are not allergic). We cannot channel, despite how much we wish we could. And no, we do not think we are better than anyone else. If you hear someone say something that you find alarming, and you are not certain if it is in jest, please ask them.
6. At events we tend to refer to each other by a mix of our Tower and our real life names (though Tower names are more common at larger events). It is perfectly acceptable to use either. Titles are generally not used.
7. Yes, novices do dishes and recruits take out the trash. But so does everyone else. Everyone will be expected to pitch in and help throughout the weekend. Remember that everyone wants to enjoy the event, and cleaning up after yourself will help ensure that this happens!

8. Have one or two "buddies" that you keep track of over the weekend. A lot of people use their Aes Sedai/Warder, roommates, members of their Ajah/Company, etc. for this purpose. It's good to have someone know where you are and how you're doing, particularly at our events that are hosted in larger cities.
9. Try to say "hello" to everyone at least once at the event. You will surely not be able to have a long meaningful conversation with everyone in the span of three days, but do try to meet and greet everyone. A good way to do this is to eat with a different group of people at each meal.
10. Get involved in the activities. There is usually a wide variety of activities to choose from, so pick one that suits your mood and spend time with everyone.
11. Sleep, and water, can get pretty scarce at our events. Both of these things are extremely important and can have a drastic impact on your mood and how much you enjoy the event. Please get enough sleep, and stay hydrated!
12. Have a means to access money. Even at our events that seem to be pretty all-inclusive, unexpected expenses pop up. You want someone to buy you a particular kind of liquor, or you need to give someone gas money for giving you a lift to the airport. Having a couple of checks or a little bit of cash on hand is always a good idea, even if you don't think you need it!

Costumes

Costumes are not required, but they are a fun part of our events and are highly encouraged! Feel free to wear your costume at any time, or even just at our main events. If you have more than one, we suggest you use your more common traveling costumes for Friday night, and your more noble costume for the Saturday night festivities. While we are not hosting a costume contest at this party we do invite everyone to wear their best on Saturday night!
